

Almost every year, immediately after the communication campaign West Flanders ordered a monitoring : (interviews by telephone, 400 respondents) to measure the success of the campaign and the support for the spearheads and efforts to promote the region.